

What it Takes to Shatter Glass

As a leader and female CEO, Jess always felt alone in her experiences. She thought she was the only one facing the obstacles and challenges she was, in her career. When she joined a women's group, she quickly realized she wasn't alone and began to wonder how other female leaders had conquered them.

Have you ever wondered what it really takes to shatter glass ceilings and break through barriers as a female? She did too, so she asked.

Through a series of interviews and honest conversations, Jess asked successful female leaders what was critical to their success. And guess what happened? Their answers were the same.

Using the research and data from these conversations, Jess will help you understand the Female Leadership Competencies that are crucial for success in life, leadership, and our careers - whatever challenges and barriers we might face.

This highly engaging keynote is part research, part technique, and 100% for women who want to truly break through professional barriers.

In this session, attendees will be able to:

- Discover the core behaviors and practices that successful female leaders attribute their success
- Learn strategies to apply core behaviors and practices into their personal and professional lives
- Discover their own personal skill gaps in order to shatter their own glass ceilings